A PRIVATE SCHOOL EDUCATION AT A PUBLIC UNIVERSITY PRICE...

ANNA MARIA COLLEGE works to make higher education accessible and affordable for everyone. It is why we are a favorite among students and parents. All accepted students receive a merit scholarship of up to $26,000 based on their cumulative grade point average; students may also be eligible for additional need-based aid. The total financial aid package makes the cost of an Anna Maria education comparable to that of a state university.
PREPARED

FOLLOW YOUR PASSION

Service is at the heart of Anna Maria College. We help students become competitive, compassionate professionals who are career-ready and able to positively impact the world around them. You will gain an education that integrates liberal arts vision with professional preparation—an education in faith, reason, and experience.

Learning takes many forms at Anna Maria College, from traditional lectures to hands-on work in the field, including in hospitals, K-6 classrooms, corporate headquarters, and more. As you learn and apply technical skills, service will remain at the forefront to help you prepare for a successful and fulfilling career.

LEARNING THAT SHAPES A CAREER

Among our 30+ majors—including Business, Criminal Justice, Fire Science, Nursing, Social Work, and Sport Management—you will find a diverse curriculum that enables you to gain specialized skills to compete in the 21st-century workforce. Along the way you will also learn how to think critically, solve problems, and widen your global perspective. Anna Maria College offers a range of substantial academic possibilities, from accelerated and combined degree programs that provide academically rigorous opportunities in advanced study to a health sciences program that prepares you for one of the fastest-growing careers in the country. You’ll access undergraduate online programs and graduate education. It’s all here.

Anna Maria College is proud to be named one of “The 25 Best Online Master in Homeland Security Degree Programs” by TheBestSchools.org

In many ways I landed my position with the Secret Service thanks to my professors at Anna Maria College and the Washington Center. I am so grateful for the whole experience—both at the college and in D.C. when I was an intern at the Washington Center. I came a long way, from my hometown in Worcester to live and work in our nation’s capital, and Anna Maria College helped and guided me every step of the way.

—Victor Sambola ’15, Criminal Justice

Washington, D.C., Connection

Anna Maria College will connect you to Washington, D.C., in numerous ways—from internships with the U. S. House of Representatives to jobs with the Department of Homeland Security.
OUR FACULTY ARE HERE FOR YOU

Anna Maria faculty members are great listeners—and that can be life-changing for our students. You will talk to them in and out of the classroom, with opportunities to meet during office hours to promote an ongoing dialogue that will shape the course of your education and your life.

Many faculty members are practitioners in their fields: One education professor, for example, has taught Massachusetts PK-12 students and teachers for 36 years. Another is one of the top 15 arson investigation professors in the country. This kind of professional and research experience will demonstrate real-world applications for you in the classroom and help connect you to opportunities ranging from internships to research to graduate and professional school. Above all, our faculty members will help you learn to believe in yourself.

Our partnerships with organizations such as the United Way, Mustard Seed Kitchen, St. John’s After School Program, Marie Anne Center, and Habitat for Humanity offer Anna Maria College students the opportunity to participate in a variety of service projects.

Anna Maria College’s membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts (HECCMA) provides you with easy, cost-effective access to courses at any one of the Consortium’s 11 colleges and universities, several of which are located right next door in Worcester, Massachusetts.
PUTTING YOUR SKILLS TO WORK

Imagine shadowing a physician assistant at Brigham and Women’s Hospital, landing an internship at one of the oldest Nike distributorships in the country, or interning with the CIA or the State Department in Washington, D.C.

Internship opportunities like these and many others form the core of your Anna Maria College education. The opportunity to put academic theory into real-world practice will balance intellectual knowledge of your field with actual experience. And it’s this kind of experience that sets Anna Maria College students apart. Whether fulfilling clinicals and practicals in community driven programs like nursing and education or accepting a sports management internship with a legendary franchise like the New England Patriots, programs across the curriculum connect students to the professional world.

Anna Maria College’s location in Greater Worcester is close to major teaching hospitals, local and state government offices, nonprofit organizations, creative agencies, and more.

INTERNSHIPS

Meeting Mickey Mouse, free Disney admission, and real-world, paid work experience may seem like a fairytale but for Daniele Laboni ‘22 and Magin González ‘22, their dreams came true when they became interns at Disney World for six months. The two friends—Daniele from Canada and Magin from Paraguay—double majored in Business and Digital Marketing. Through their internship, they learned the value of customer service and the importance of communication, and also experienced how company culture sets the tone for customers and creates the sense of “magic” that defines Disney World.

Anna Maria College’s study abroad programs will put you in colleges and universities all across the globe, from Argentina to China, France to India—as well as Italy and beyond.
COMMUNITY

CAMPUS LIFE
Minutes from the vibrant college city of Worcester, Anna Maria is located on a 190-acre campus in the heart of New England. With more than 25 clubs and organizations on campus, you’re certain to find friends who share your interests as you become part of the Anna Maria community. From self-care days and community volunteer opportunities to campus carnivals and celebrity visits to trips to Boston, New York City, and beyond, you will always find something engaging to experience.

WORCESTER: IN THE HEART OF IT ALL
At Anna Maria College you get the best of both worlds: a peaceful suburban campus and close proximity to the vibrant city of Worcester—New England’s second-largest city and a college town for 12 nearby colleges and universities. You’ll also find an exciting arts and culture scene, good dining, and shopping. You can take in a play at The Hanover Theatre and Conservatory for the Performing Arts, sample chicken Caesar salad pizza at VIA Italian Table, or stop by the annual Shrewsbury Street College Shuffle. You can also kayak Lake Quinsigamond, ice skate on the Worcester Common Oval, or improve your putting at Green Hill Golf Course.

• A thriving city of more than 36,000 college students
• Internships at cutting-edge companies and hospitals
• Culture, music, and the arts at The Hanover Theatre and Jean McDonough Arts Center (JMAC)
• Home to Polar Park’s Worcester Red Sox and the Worcester Railers hockey team
• 20+ trails to ski and snowboard at Wachusett Mountain
• Nearly 500 Restaurants
• 60+ parks and 250 acres of public park lands
• Six city beaches

GO AMCATS!
There’s a growing sense of excitement on the playing fields at Anna Maria College. Our 13 men’s and women’s varsity teams compete in the NCAA Division III, Eastern Collegiate Football, and Great Northeast Atlantic conferences. Our football team won the 2021 ECFC football championship. In addition to varsity, we offer a variety of club sports team* so student-athletes can find their sport.

Our coaching staff serve as mentors who are committed to the success of student-athletes who are balancing athletic and academic responsibilities. Individual sports are considered another facet of an education to develop important skills.

The Fuller Fitness Center houses a fully equipped fitness facility for aerobics and weight training, exercise equipment ranging from exercycles to treadmills, and fitness classes to suit your needs.

ANNA MARIA GRADUATES the pillars of communities: the firefighters, police officers, emergency responders, nurses, and educators. These are service-oriented people, and service-oriented people make great athletes because they get teamwork; they understand what it means to work together to achieve great things.

—Joseph Brady ’96, Director of Athletics

The medical community in Worcester includes hospitals that provide top-notch patient care. Anna Maria’s well-connected faculty made it very easy to get placement in clinical settings that augmented my education with important experiential learning. I was offered my first nursing job in Seattle before I crossed the stage at graduation.

—Kayla Kendall (Buck) ’16, Nursing

Kayla is an ICU Nurse at Kootenai Health in Coeur d’Alene, ID and a traveling RN. She led a team of nurses at NYU who served COVID-19 patients.
